Painted Tree, located 30 miles north of Dallas and just west of I-75 near downtown McKinney, is planned as three distinct districts. Each is informed by the character of the land and all are linked by trails to unique destinations — through the woods, along the water, to parks, pools and places to gather. Each district will introduce a variety of new ways to live. Explore miles of greenways, pathways and nature trails, woven into 200 acres of natural open space and around a 20-acre fish-stocked lake. Then meet up with friends at any of three community hubs for revelry and relaxation at its finest. Where swimming pools and National-Park inspired spaces bring everyone together in the spirit of community.
